

Speaker 1 - 00:00

Yes, definitely. Don't I look good? Yeah, 18. Anyway, just regressing to some healthier stage of. No, I think it's part of one of the reflections I have is looking at now. Where do you think you are as far as age when you think of yourself? Don't think a lot. But what age are you right off the top of your head?

Speaker 2 - 00:38

Oh, right off the top of my head. I see 50, but I'm 58.

Speaker 1 - 00:40

Okay. No, okay, you saw the thought. Okay, what do you say? There you go. See, I'm like 28. Right. Somewhere in that area, some kind of place where you felt like you connected with that. That's the you. Right, right. And so that's really good that you connected with it.

Speaker 2 - 00:59

Yeah, Straight to my mind. 50 years old, you know, and the reason I said that because were just talking about a little bit of drug use. I didn't start drinking until I was 33. I never put any kind of drug before I was 50. This ain't the 73 year old that.

Speaker 1 - 01:15

Was telling me, they know who I am. They knew I wasn't 73. I was like, man, he was pretty good. Yeah. Hello.

Speaker 3 - 01:26

Hello.

Speaker 1 - 01:27

So you're the new guy?

Speaker 2 - 01:29

Yes.

Speaker 1 - 01:30

But you're the returner. You told me that you're the returner.

Speaker 2 - 01:34

Yeah, between return, I went to Duffy's for a while.

Speaker 1 - 01:37

Okay. I've heard of, yeah, somebody, same company as you. I. Yeah, I went to St. Helena and Duffy's was kind of connected with them or they're in the air. Same area, 10 years ago.

Speaker 2 - 01:47

Duffy's was the cream of the crown.

Speaker 4 - 01:52

I think.

Speaker 1 - 01:53

Did it burn down? I'm thinking, oh, they had the fires out there. I think they. Oh, they did. It did burn down. Oh, that's too bad.

Speaker 3 - 02:02

The facility did burn down, but I.

Speaker 1 - 02:04

Know that the Santa Lena closed.

Speaker 2 - 02:06

Didn't they move down because of smoke? Yeah.

Speaker 1 - 02:09

Okay, well, glad you guys are here. You returned. So you guys are not too frightened. Frightened.

Speaker 4 - 02:24

Yeah.

Speaker 1 - 02:24

So I want to welcome you. I'm glad you're back here and that one of the things I heard from you right off the bat was that you're here to. To do it this time instead.

Speaker 4 - 02:36

Right.

Speaker 2 - 02:36

I'm not gonna argue. I'm gonna do what I said. Like I said, every single group I'm gonna do, I'm gonna signature because all I got back there is death.

Speaker 4 - 02:46

Okay.

Speaker 2 - 02:46

Be found dead in that place or I'm having another horrible detox. Oh, my God.

Speaker 1 - 02:54

So this, so this is definitely in line with that for sure. You know, it's one of the things for me that's really something I investigate a lot of my own. Recovery is what motivates us, right? What motivates us. And, you know, usually suffering gets us to spiritual practice. Oh, yeah, they're in here now. Yeah, no problem. No, we're good. Thank you for. So what motivates us, right? And so what motivates us is most easiest. The easiest is obviously suffering, right? But in AA speak, we have this forgetter that keeps forgetting.

Speaker 2 - 03:55

It keeps forgetting how bad it was.

Speaker 1 - 03:58

Yeah.

Speaker 4 - 03:58

Yeah.

Speaker 1 - 03:59

And I'm not here to. We're not here for morbid reflection. We're here for past and future at all, actually. We're really just trying to be present because really, everything is good right now. There are no problems right now. There are no problems right now. And the closer that we can get connected with right now, which I'll talk to you about what that means, the better it gets meaning, the more. Okay, just normal life is. So what ends up happening is that we have this mind that conceives of the past and doesn't feel. Whenever we looked upon the past, there's always something that we didn't do, right?

Speaker 1 - 04:56

Whether we're disappointed in ourselves or we're disappointed in our parents, or we let people down in school, or we wish we had the boyfriend or the girlfriend and hadn't screwed up so they left us, or just all the different things that happens in life that we equate with personality with us, with connecting with us, and with being us. Like it's us that is doing it, which is true. If you think about who's experiencing this, what's happening, it appears it's us. We're putting on this suit that we're identifying with the problems as us. But the reality is that if you kind of take a look at them, they're just things that are passing through that we kind of grasp on. I think I talked to you guys last time about the sound, right? I think I said that I've talked about the sound, right?

Speaker 1 - 05:56

The sounds. That sound of the pot in there being moved around has nothing to do with us. Nothing. Right. And yet what happens is we go out and reach to it and we make it a problem. We don't like it, and so we want to push it away. We want to hear things we like. I want to hear angelic, beautiful music and voices all the time, right? So this. And so that's, you know, whenever we think about the past, when we think about these things that are conditioned, things that sound is there because somebody's moving a pot and clanking it and whatever. But we take it upon ourselves and make it our problem. And then when we make it our problem, then we have to solve our problem. We have to solve it some kind of way.

Speaker 1 - 06:47

Same thing when we think about the future. We're thinking about the future. We don't know what it's going to be like. And if we think about it in those terms, that can be unnerving too, right? It's like we're afraid of what's going to happen in the future. But what we forget is that the future, there is no real future. All we have is right now. We don't know what's going to happen. And when we. If we. If we take stock of what actually does happen, it doesn't happen the way we think about it. But for some reason, there's something in our psyche, in our being, that keeps on connecting with these things that are stressful to us because we're concerned about our lives. And for good reason. We all want to be happy, but we just don't know how to be happy.

Speaker 1 - 07:36

We're looking for it in some kind of external thing. And external is the past, right? It's not here, now, present with us. We have to go reach for it, right? And contentment and happiness and peace happens right here, right? Like everything is. Like everything is just great right now. And the more we can connect with that instead of connecting with our suffering, with the things that cause us pain. Because once we have it as an idea, it's a problem, then we keep on going back to it. We're trying to fix it, solve it, crush it, manipulate it, change it some way, make up for it, right? Where we treat it like it's something, you know?

Speaker 1 - 08:26

And we do, because we live in a world where you got to pay your traffic tickets and you gotta pay your bills and we got to put a roof over our head. And, you know, we have. We need relation. You know, we are in relation with the world. So this practice is really learning to look at this and look at how we latch onto these things. And the difference when we. When we're just this observer, this one that knows that things are happening, right? So I'm gonna. I'm trying to point you back to this knowing quality, this knowing just being able to know what's going on. Because when you are lost in the events in your life, you're only paying attention from this. This person that's being hurt, right? You've already bit the Hook.

Speaker 1 - 09:30

But when you're able to look at what's going on and look at it for what it is, then you're actually putting a brakes, right? On what you're changing that relationship. Instead of you being the druggie, the not dependable person, the, you know, whatever. I'm just making up different conditions and things like that. I'm not saying anything about anybody specifically. I'm just giving you ideas here because the mind is very creative. We can come up with our own truths about who we think we are, but when we look at those things, they're much simpler. So what we want to do is we want. The practice of meditation is the practice of being present and learning how we. What we add to the. What we. The mind mirrors back with what we're putting out.

Speaker 1 - 10:29

So if we're putting out love and peace, we're going to get love and peace back. And if we. Right. If we put out hate and anger and resentment and judgments and, you know, all the different things, then we feel that. We feel that. That's. That whenever there is any kind of thought or emotion, then we feel it. That's what we feel. Right? And so we want to break that. It's like biofeedback, right? We want to break that. So the way that we can do that is just by doing the looking. So it's difficult, but it's really simple. It's not complicated. We have this tendency to make it complicated. So I'll just give a description of mindfulness where I actually meditate here and. Have you meditated before? Okay. Qigong. You did the qigong, which is another form of being. Yeah.

Speaker 1 - 11:32

Yoga is something where you can get into it in a meditative state. In fact, that's the ideal. Right. It's not just about getting healthy. It's about the actually pose and being in the pose and being present. So these qualities of mindfulness are being interested.

Speaker 4 - 11:54

The word is ardent.

Speaker 1 - 11:56

Being interested in what's going on, being alert, remembering this. This is something that we want to remind ourselves to.

Speaker 4 - 12:06

To the.

Speaker 1 - 12:07

To. To. To. To look at what's going on. To be this knower. That's the reminding thing. Over and over again. This is. Breaks. So for me, it's really. For me, I look at suffering directly. It's like, okay, when I start suffering, so I start, okay, what am I aware of? Right. Going back to this awareness, what am I aware of? Ask yourself, what are you aware of? And then what ends up happening is trying to try to stay away from the thinking part of it. Meaning when you ask yourself what you're aware of, don't sit there and have a conversation about what you think it is, what it might be, what's the cause of it, or whatever. Just come into the body and notice tightness.

Speaker 4 - 12:53

Right?

Speaker 1 - 12:54

Make it simple. What can you actually notice? Tightness? The energetic qualities of it. How are you feeling? Are you feeling in your heart? Feeling your stomach? Are you feeling his head? Hot? I'm saying these basic, really basic things, not over complicating it. And if you're watching your mind, like for instance, if you notice your mind is racing and then you notice it, you're being mindful when you notice it.

Speaker 4 - 13:27

Right?

Speaker 1 - 13:29

Just. Just look at what. Look at what's going on and ask the question, what's going on? And then when you do that again, that's the brakes. You're putting on the brakes. You're no longer that thing. You're no longer that thing. Because if you're looking. I said that if you're looking at it, then you can't be it.

Speaker 4 - 13:50

Right.

Speaker 1 - 13:52

If you're looking at anger, you're not the anger. The anger is there for you to look at. Right. You get what I'm saying there? And so this is this thing that we want to practice. Well, it is there all the time. It's just unmasked. It's covered up with all of the disturbances that we have going on. It's this activity of the mind and being reactionary and all this activity that's going on. And when we look, what happens is we give an opportunity for it to die down and relax. So it's kind of like the ideal is it's a still pond. And all of the things that we feel and perceive and think about, they're disturbing. The water colors the water so we can't see through it or it, you know, like anger is like bubbles, so you can't see the bubbles.

Speaker 4 - 14:51

Those kinds of things.

Speaker 1 - 14:52

So, like, any questions on this? Party up.

Speaker 3 - 14:57

I'm a little distracted because I forgot to take my medicine that I'm supposed to take for dinner.

Speaker 1 - 15:02

Okay, Go get it. Yeah, yeah. And that's one important thing I want to just point out while you're here. It'll be just 1/30 seconds. When you're disturbed, notice what's going on, what do you need? And you handle it. The quicker that you can handle it, then you can relax. Right? Yeah, yeah, right. That's great. That's actually perfect. Yeah, not a problem at all. And when you. You've been here before, just come in. If we're meditating, just come right back in and. Yeah, jump onto it. Yeah. So. Right. Is that something. That was pretty. I'll give you another example of that because this is a really good lesson. Okay, so say she gives me a look and I. I'm just making something up, by the way. Okay. All right. Promise I'm making it up. It's not true. You're very nice. Okay, But.

Speaker 1 - 15:58

But maybe I'm wondering. I'm kind of confused about what she's looking at me that way for. You know what I mean? So in my own mind, it's like, did I smell. You know, I'm going into this whole. I could go into this whole thing of why she look at me that way. That's taking it personal and taking it on. So what if I gave her attitude, right? If I gave her attitude on it? Well, then we're. Then that's how I relate. That's how our relationship goes, right? Is we're. Now we've created a dynamic based on me misinterpreting what I thought she was giving me. Okay? So anyway, that's just one example how this thing can snowball. And this happens all the time. So normally if I say something. Let me turn it around.

Speaker 1 - 16:51

If I say something to you and she looks at, like, I get this perplexed look.

Speaker 4 - 16:58

Then I. Oh, okay.

Speaker 1 - 17:00

Well, maybe I hurt her feelings or I said something wrong. So then what I could do, then I'm starting to worry. So I wanted to get to the part about the worrying part. Okay. Now I'm worried about, did I hurt her feelings? Did I do something to her? Whatever. So what I can do is right there, is deal with it. I could say, hey, did I say something wrong to you? And then hopefully we have an open dialogue and I'm not coming and accusing you or something. And. And you could say, oh, no, no. I was, you know, this. Or whatever was happening, she could say her part of it, and then I could, you know, we could soothe it over. But what if that happened? Class is over now.

Speaker 1 - 17:45

I've been here stewing on it for 45 minutes, and I've been treating her and giving off vibes like, I'm uncomfortable. You know, you ever been around a dog that's around somebody that's uncomfortable? They don't like it, they growl, they get away from you. They can sense your vibes, right? So people are like that, too. So instead. So the way being mindful, we can not be attached to the emotion that comes up or the Perception that comes up, recognize possibly that there's something you can do, your own suffering. So I'm talking about my own suffering here. And I could do something about it now if all I can do is do what I can do to clean up my side of the street. That's an AA thing, right? Cleaning up your own side of the street. Okay, so. Right, but.

Speaker 1 - 18:40

And I have to let go of the rest. Exactly. That's how the program works. In the same way, the program, but we alleviate a lot of worries in the world. When I come to you out of love and compassion and forgiveness and not out of belligerence and fighting and accusing and you know what I'm saying? And this happens in everything in life. So for instance, when you're hungry, generally you eat. If you're tired, generally go to sleep. If you have to go to the bathroom. Nature is telling us, I'm not feeling good. Take care of this for me. And you listen to it, right? You want to listen to it. Because if you don't listen to it, guess what? It continues to nag you. Right? It continues to nag you. And then what happens is we normally, like we ignore it or something else.

Speaker 1 - 19:39

So I'm not worried about that. What I'm trying to do is just for us to be aware that this is how nature works and how things are, and this is what mindfulness does. When we could take a step back and be the observer of what's going on, then all of a sudden this wisdom that comes up or this way of dealing with life differently instead of what I don't like the way I feel. I'm gonna go and get my crack as soon as I leave here. Because I don't feel, you know, I'm saying all of a sudden you're doing something else and you've created a whole other world that you're dealing with instead of dealing with it, right? So these are the kinds of things that we want to. That we want.

Speaker 1 - 20:21

This mindfulness, this awareness that can help us to not just be a victim of our emotions and thinking and our feelings.

Speaker 2 - 20:30

See, with me right now, they told me two years ago that you're starting to get the onset wetland just as were talking. I'm going to tell you about being upset. My ex girlfriend with her a year, you know, I'd be up her house right now for the. For the last seven minutes. I cannot remember her name. This is the asim all my God, my wet brain is getting worse, all right? And I'm going Crazy right now in my mind, trying to figure out how can I be with this girl for a year and I don't know what her name is right now, I can't remember her name. And it's buddy, the hell of me, you know, I remember my ex wife because I was with her 23 years. But this girl I was just with for a whole year. And I traveling, we sat.

Speaker 2 - 21:22

I was singing, I'm writing a letter. And then I'll say dog, and I.

Speaker 1 - 21:27

Can't remember how to spell dog. Okay, I. I know, but so bugs you right now. So I want. So I want you to come into your body. Come into your body. How does being bugged feel? See? See the difference? No, but stay with it. Don't. Don't go involved in the story, right? Don't jump back into the story because what ends up happening is the mind wants to go back and chew on the story. Don't go back there. Just come back to the body. It's not about the story. Let go of the story, come back to you, right? That's where you want. Come back to the feeling, the felt sense in the body, right? So that's the difference here. It's like just relax. A lot of times what ends up happening is that, for instance, you might fear some fear.

Speaker 1 - 22:26

Like I was hearing a little fear. Okay? So again, coming right back to the body. This is what fear feels like, right? This is where we. This is what we want to use to inform us. Okay? So, right, we're gonna. We're gonna meditate now and practice this coming back. So you all right now?

Speaker 4 - 22:48

You're good? All right.

Speaker 1 - 22:50

Okay. All right, so I'll. Okay, so general rules of meditation.

Speaker 4 - 23:04

We're.

Speaker 1 - 23:05

We're here to meditate and not sleep. That's this alertness, right? Being alert, being awake. If you notice you're tired, then notice you're tired. You can meditate and see the struggle of tired. We were talking about some different things. When you're disturbed and what to do when you're gone. Being tired is a certain state too. Sometimes you're tired because you're bored or just right. Or disinterested.

Speaker 4 - 23:34

There's many reasons for it.

Speaker 1 - 23:37

What's up?

Speaker 2 - 23:39

Just now, when I tried to calm down for about eight minutes, I could not remember Mary's name. And I calmed down and I just remembered her name.

Speaker 1 - 23:50

Okay, you know, okay, that's me.

Speaker 2 - 23:53

My fear that my wet brain is hitting your.

Speaker 1 - 24:01

No, see, again, you're projecting into the future. You're just doing. You're projecting Right back in the future, I want you to come back to the body and to be here with what's now, okay? So it's helpful. You're seeing what's coming back. Just coming back and being right here in the present. It's peaceful here. Don't keep going back to the story about where you might lose your mind, okay? The fact is, if you lose your mind but you're happy, then you've had a happy life, okay? Really? Really. You know what I'm saying? This is your life. Do you want to live a life that's where you're worried all the time, or do you want to live a life where you're happy and that's what the point is here.

Speaker 1 - 24:49

So if you want to get stuck, stay on doing what you're doing and being in this story and being lost, then you keep on thinking the way you're thinking. And this here is the brakes. It is the brakes. So the brakes are being present here in the body, aware of what's happening right now. Your direct experience. Direct experience, which is focusing on your body and your breathing. So that's what we'll do right now. Go ahead. And I was going to explain a little bit about meditation, but you're all sitting here, you're all ready to meditate. You can ask me if you have any questions about it later. So let's just bring our awareness into our bodies.

Speaker 4 - 25:36

And take a quick inventory.

Speaker 1 - 25:40

Of how the body feels. Are you full of energy? Are you excited?

Speaker 4 - 25:48

Are you nervous? Anxious?

Speaker 1 - 25:53

Peaceful?

Speaker 4 - 25:54

Just internal. Just. Just taking a quick inventory where you're at.

Speaker 1 - 26:03

You don't have to figure it out.

Speaker 4 - 26:04

You know right off the bat how you are. And then come back into the body and just look at how the. Notice how the body feels. Feel the. See if there's any tension in your back or your neck, your shoulders. You can roll your shoulders if you want to let go of it. Not if there's any tension in the face. The eyes, forehead, temples, just allow that energy to dissipate. Maybe take a couple of deep breaths. Healing energy coming in and letting go of stress. Relaxation on the out breath. The out breath is the letting go. So let go, let go and then come and settle back into this body. Pay attention to the sensations. Everything here is about sensations and feelings at this point. Just your direct experience. Stay with the sensations. Noticing the rhythm of the body breathing.

Speaker 4 - 27:42

The butt, diaphragm going up and down, the lungs expanding and contracting. Cool air coming in, warm air going out at the nostrils. Just this bare Knowing. Returning back to this bare knowing over and over. It's easy to just notice the rhythm of the breathing. Quality of your breathing. Is it shallow? Is it tight? It's relaxed. If anything comes and takes your attention away from your breathing, it's okay to focus on.

Speaker 1 - 29:29

You can not focus on it but.

Speaker 4 - 29:31

Be aware of that. So you might hear sounds. You might have a pain in your leg or you might have a thought. We're not here trying to make ourselves not have thoughts here to not have any feelings that would just create more stress and suffering for ourselves. We're here to just be with the knowing of what is going on when the feeling goes away. Returning back to this rhythm of the breathing in order to stay. There's a few tricks if you're having difficulty. You can use a simple phrase as long like in and out. Acknowledging this breathing. And you can do this a few times and then a lot of times this will kind of be disturbing in itself. So you can let go of it. But just a way to ground yourself in this rhythm.

Speaker 4 - 32:04

You can only stay with a couple of breaths. That's okay. You stayed with a couple of breaths. Come back and try another one. Being aware of whatever is you want to be relaxed but alert. This makes the process enjoyable. But if you're having any difficulties, that's okay. That's the practice that you have to practice right now. This is your practice. This is where we learn to change the habits of the mind by being aware of them first. Then using this breath and this body as anchor. It periodically checking back in. Just see. See if you know where you're at. Are you aware of what's going on right now? Are you on your breathing? Just as a check the importance is this knowing quality. Knowing what's going on it if you're connecting with your breathing.

Speaker 4 - 36:38

You can further deepen this by thinking of the body as energy and filling the whole body. So experiencing whole body breathing. If you're having a little difficulty with this, you might think of the breath coming in through the feet and up through the legs and the torso and out the arms. Or you could come in through the top of the head, go out the back of the neck. I like my think of myself as my aura. Big like a big ball of air breathing like a sponge. This can bring energy if it's too much energy and let go of that. Just come back. Basic to the basic Breathing meditation is creative learning to experience whatever you're experiencing. Trying different things so that you can be more present.

Speaker 4 - 39:05

This is how this is a training, how you can train yourself not getting caught in good and bad, just what is. However, if you find something seems to be doing, working well, keep doing it. See if you can deepen it or keep it going. You're here collecting data. This observer, you're reporting on what's going on. You're observing. This observer doesn't get hurt, doesn't feel emotions, doesn't think thoughts. The observer is not stained by anything. It's just observing. Over time, this observing quality will grow and your practice will deepen. Our task is to simply know, to let it go, not to push it away, not to create more strength, stress and suffering, but just to allow nature to take its course. Which is, things rise and they pass away. Just like each breath, just like each sound. It's here and it's gone. It.

Speaker 4 - 43:46

Okay, I have just a few minutes. Questions?

Speaker 1 - 44:00

No.

Speaker 4 - 44:01

Good. Usually I don't like the guide too.

Speaker 1 - 44:08

Much, but I find it's helpful to kind of try to point out things.

Speaker 4 - 44:11

That you might be. That might be getting, you know, caught on. So I hope that was okay.

Speaker 1 - 44:17

I wasn't trying to imply anything. Okay. So you see how you can practice with the breathing just using that.

Speaker 4 - 44:27

It's a simple practice.

Speaker 1 - 44:29

And then what happens is the mind will go, feel pain, and I'll.

Speaker 4 - 44:34

Go, I don't like that.

Speaker 1 - 44:37

And it'll go to that, and you'll lose the breathing.

Speaker 4 - 44:40

And then it'll go away. And then you come back to your breathing.

Speaker 1 - 44:44

Right?

Speaker 4 - 44:44

Again, keep on coming back to it.

Speaker 1 - 44:47

Then what happens is you guys start feeling good.

Speaker 4 - 44:51

Because a lot of that stuff starts lying.

Speaker 1 - 44:53

Stuff just lies down, right? Then you have deeper stuff come up that you got to keep on. You got to keep on with this plastic so it keeps on unfolding and.

Speaker 4 - 45:04

Over and over.

Speaker 1 - 45:05

This practice is really simple. So if we.

Speaker 4 - 45:08

If you.

Speaker 1 - 45:09

It can also be a refuge. I want to point that out to you. This knowing quality is not tainted by what is known.

Speaker 4 - 45:18

Understand what I'm saying by that.

Speaker 1 - 45:20

So it has. No, it doesn't. If you're able to watch the emotion, then there's a strength between you and emotion. There's a space between you and the thought. There's a space between you and the feeling, right? Because you're the one that's knowing what's going on.

Speaker 4 - 45:39

So that is, what I'm saying is your protection.

Speaker 1 - 45:42

That's your power to be able to pay attention to that, to just allow things to be without interfering, tighten away. Right? Then what happens is nature comes and deals with it on its own. Now, it's not all that simple. There are certain things that you do have to talk to yourself. For instance, coming back to the breath when you're taken off, you have to come back and say, come back to the breath. You're telling yourself that you're guiding yourself back. So there's a way that you're actually are. There's a thing called you're directing what's going. You're directing your thoughts to your attention.

Speaker 4 - 46:28

To what's going on.

Speaker 1 - 46:30

You're interpreting what's going on.

Speaker 4 - 46:33

Right.

Speaker 1 - 46:34

And then when you do that, then you come back and you're remembering, oh, I'm supposed to be on the breath if you aren't, or I want to make this breath. But you're noticing what's going. You're saying you're paying attention. So you're putting your effort there. Guess what? If you're putting your attention there, you're not putting your attention on other things. You're not putting your attention on thoughts. You're not putting your attention on worries. So that's a place where you be peaceful. So it's a protection for you. That's how you can deal with pain. You can get into the breathing and focus on the breathing. Just let the pain be the pain. Right. You're not paying any attention. When you don't pay any attention, then you're not feeding it. Right. We unconsciously feed things.

Speaker 1 - 47:25

Get that extra hits of instructions in there or reminders for you. And you guys go into your group tonight.

Speaker 2 - 47:36

Yeah, we have a closure group.

Speaker 1 - 47:37

Oh, I thought they must have changed this. The schedule you used to have on Tuesdays where you would. This Tuesday? Yeah, that they would have another meeting and you guys would take a bus up there. Okay. And I'm not going to worry about it anymore. Then that changed. Okay. I hope you guys all got something out of this. Yeah. Yeah, that's not going to work. Where did you see me? Where'd you see the schedule at? Here?

Speaker 2 - 48:14

The schedule's right here. But I. I can't read. I don't got my glasses.

Speaker 3 - 48:18

Oh, this isn't scheduled.

Speaker 2 - 48:19

Yeah, that's scheduled.

Speaker 1 - 48:21

I'm not on here. I. Thank you for showing me that. No, you see, I'm saying why is it. Yeah, yeah.

Speaker 3 - 48:27

It's so weird.

Speaker 1 - 48:28

Is. Yeah, so was. So this is 12 2. Thank you. Yeah. Pleased to meet you. Is that far? Yeah. So I'm gonna. Anyway, we gotta fix that. It's been the same way that's why I make my own columns.

Speaker 3 - 48:48

Well, there you go. I would have done the same.

Speaker 1 - 48:50

I'm not. Yep. I don't let things Given my way. Yep.

Speaker 3 - 48:54

Absolutely.

Speaker 1 - 48:56

Now, you're welcome. Thank you.

Speaker 3 - 49:00

Thank you.

Speaker 1 - 49:01

Good. Like. There you go. Thank you, brother. You're welcome, man. I will. Thank you. You too. I'll see you Friday. Okay.
